INSPIRE • COLLABORATE • UNITE

Untitled is a digital platform for 11-18-year-olds created with the intention of supporting, enabling and inspiring the next generation of designers and creators in partnership with the Design and Technology Association

WHAT WILL YOU FIND ON UNTITLED?

Live briefs

Young people and students will have unique access to training and opportunities to collaborate with well-known brands on exciting creative briefs around fashion, music, sport and more

A secure environment

We work with SuperAwesome for our registration process, which includes parent approval; ensuring students data is GDPR and COPPA safe. Limited community interaction and information sharing features ensure young creators are safely using the platform

Learning opportunities

We'll provide content to support and inspire young people with their creating and tools for teachers and parents to use as well

REWARDS & INCENTIVES

To encourage participation, some briefs will include rewards and incentives for students and schools alike. Further recognition can be highlighted through the achievement of receiving Untitled digital badges and printable certificates

Untitled has partnered with the UK's expert authority for design and technology, as they believe that there should be the opportunity for all students, across all abilities, to study high quality D&T as part of a broad and creative curriculum up to the age of 18

The Design and Technology Association supports, develops and promotes high quality design and technology teaching and learning as an essential part of the rounded education of all young people. Our partnership allows schools and students to connect with live briefs set by nationally and internationally known brands, providing contextualised learning and industry insight

Design and technology is all about encouraging young people to engage in identifying and solving real-life design problems, Untitled will provide a portal for student, teacher and parent engagement nationally, I am both energised and excited by its potential
